Long trial nearing end

By GARY SCHNEIDER
of the Press-Record

A key question of whether home and apartment developer Jim Green had borrowed more money from the former Plaza First Federal Savings & Loan Association in Alton by 1969 than was legally allowed under state regulations was argued extensively late last week in Granite City as the trial of Green versus the Alton Telegraph completed its fifth week.

The newspaper, in its defense, is contending that Green was liable for more than $6 million in loans from Plaza in 1969, while the association was allowed to loan only the equivalent of its net worth, or about $4.64 million, to any one borrower.

William Cox, attorney for the Telegraph, contends that when the Federal Home Loan Bank Board conducted an examination of the association's books, it discovered the problem and recommended that Plaza set lower lending limitations, thus halting funding to Green.

Rex Carr, attorney for Green, contends that Green's credit line was cut off as the result of a memo sent by two former Telegraph reporters, Joe Melosi and William Lhotka, to the U.S. Justice Department.

The memo is said to have alleged Green had affiliations with organized crime figures. It is being debated whether the memo itself was "circulated"; it was never published in the newspaper.

Heubner leaving schools

Tully A. Heubner, 46, of Granite City, was appointed Thursday by the Carl Sandburg College board of trustees as director of business affairs for the college, located at Galesburg, Ill.

He succeeds Dr. Loren R. Nicol, who will retire on Aug. 31. Nicol has been Sandburg's business director since 1971.

For the past five years, Heubner has served as director of business affairs for Community Unit School District No. 9, Granite City.

In that position, he has been responsible for business affairs, the buildings and grounds, food service, and data processing in a school district which includes 18 attendance centers and has an annual budget of more than $25 million.

Prior to his current position, he was director of buildings and grounds for Granite City Unit District No. 9 from 1966 to 1975.

How would you move a 192-ton box across city? Carefully!

By PAT FOLEY

A box weighing 384,000 pounds was moved Thursday afternoon from the Tri-City Regional Port to the Air Products and Chemicals, Inc., plant at 2200 Monroe Street via Niedringhaus Avenue through downtown Granite City.

The Wilbur Waggoner Trucking Co. undertook the task of moving the large box and five smaller boxes for the company.

The six "cold boxes" were manufactured by the British subsidiary of Air Products and Chemicals, Inc., at its Acrefair, England, facility. They will be used in the separation of air into its various components and will expand the production capacity of the local Air Products facility by 700 tons per day.

The expansion is necessary due to the increasing demand for such gases by Granite City Steel.

The box, measuring 16x17x102, was the first to be moved to the plant. It was slowly transported up the levee after being lifted from a barge by a crane with a capacity of 200 tons.

The massive crane had to be counterweighted with more than 83 tons of concrete, brought in by four trucks, to lift the box.

After two days of "fine tuning" the crane and other variables involved, the box was lifted and set on two waiting dollies, each having 32 solid rubber tires. The box was then bolted by workmen to the dollies and a truck tractor was hooked to the rig.

The tractor rig and box had a total length of 140 feet.

The 192-ton weight of the box was so enormous that the tractor was also counterweighted with a 25,000-pound steel ingot for better traction.

Several other vehicles, including a

The longtime Granite City resident, retired since 1973 from the Bell Telephone company but still active in scouting, was saluted in a "This is your life" program arranged as a surprise to him on the eve of the 1980 scout camping season.

Flowers were presented to Henn's wife, Mary, by Jeff Yates, who gave this year's Boy Scout report to the Illinois governor representing the Cahokia Mound Council. Mrs. Henn spoke for herself and her husband in expressing appreciation for the evening's program, which was followed by serving of cake, punch and coffee.

Delay prisoner transfer

By RICK PEARSON
It could be two to three more weeks before prisoners are transferred to the new Madison County Jail at Edwardsville, Henry Gabriel of Granite City, the jail's architect, reports.
Gabriel said various items, including laundry machines, must still be installed in the jail.
These "punch check" items have delayed the transfer of the prisoners.

although the sheriff's department is now operating out of the facility.
In addition, Gabriel said, testing is currently going on to determine if paint used in the jail meets the architect's specifications.

Gabriel said in a spot check of certain structural items in the jail, there was speculation that enamel paint instead of epoxy paint was used.

Epoxy paint has a stronger base than enamel paint, making it more durable.
Epoxy paint is regularly used on walls where a large amount of maintenance is required, he commented.

Gabriel said, "Looking at some of the paint cans, we couldn't tell what type of paint was on the label."
Gabriel said if the paint was found to be the wrong type, he would give "some sort of recommendation" to the county buildings committee and, ultimately, the county board. He did not say if he would recommend the interior of the jail be repainted if the paint was the wrong type.

"My concern is that once you move the prisoners in, no one will want to go into the cells to do touch-up work," he said. "We're really not sure, though, that anything is wrong."

In addition to delays inside the jail, it may be a while before grass grows on a portion of the front lawn as a result of a car chase last week.

Ruts were dug into the front lawn and a lamp post was knocked over in the incident, which involved two area men.

According to Madison County sheriff's deputies,
Jerry Carver, 30, Maryville, was driving in Edwardsville with Thomas Shellenburg,

22, Troy, when they were chased by two carloads of people.

In an effort to get help, Carver drove his car to the jail, where police said the pursuing cars forced Carver's car onto the lawn, also knocking down a light pole.

A sheriff's department employee broke up the ensuing fight.

Carver was charged with reckless driving. A driver of one of the chase cars, Gary Berkman of Edwardsville, was also charged with reckless driving.

Tim Berkman, a passenger in one of the chase cars, was charged with disorderly conduct and resisting a peace officer.

Major Erwin Knezevich of the sheriff's department said criminal damage to property, charges may also be filed in connection with the incident.

Federal budget deceives—Percy

Senator Charles H. Percy (R-Ill.) says he voted against the Senate-passed federal budget because the measures hides both excessive spending and increased taxes.

"This budget is balanced on paper only," Percy said.
"It hides runaway federal spending and higher taxes."

Percy predicted that the budget will not be balanced by the time it takes effect at the beginning of the new fiscal year on Oct. 1 because of anticipated increases in spending and loss of federal revenue caused by the recession.

"Federal spending will increase by nearly $9 billion over what the Senate-passed budget estimates. The result will be a red-ink federal budget that I could not support," Percy said, adding that he also opposed the Senate-approved budget because it relies on a $90 billion tax increase.

"This budget is balanced on the back of every American taxpayer," he asserted.

As an author of the Congressional budget process that seeks to control federal spending, Percy said he had high hopes that the process would produce a balanced budget in 1981.

"As early as July 1978, I voted for a measure that required a balanced budget in 1981. Unfortunately, this so-called balanced budget is a smokescreen that conceals both higher spending and higher taxes."

Percy said the real truth of the 1981 federal budget will be revealed to taxpayers when increased federal spending produces another budget deficit. In the meantime, Percy said, taxes will continue to climb.

During Senate consideration of the budget, Percy supported two measures that called for balancing the budget at reduced levels of federal spending. Both measures also would have provided a tax cut.

"The Senate defeated these measures and instead approved a budget that greatly increases both spending and taxes," the senator related.

Percy said he has "consistently supported Senate measures that limit federal spending to a fixed amount of the total value of all goods and services produced in the nation each year. This limit
— 21 percent of the Gross National Product — would limit the amount of the nation's wealth that the government taxes or borrows to support spending.

He concluded, "Staggering rates of inflation and interest are aggravated by the federal government's seemingly unbreakable habit of constantly increasing taxes and borrowing to finance more and more spending."

Long trial

Carr contends the allegations in the memo were false and were passed on from the Justice Department to the FBI, which he says then passed the allegations on to auditors checking Piasa's books.

The auditors had specific instructions to check Green's accounts for any irregularities and to determine if syndicate money was being funneled through Piasa to Green and others, Carr has contended.

Carr completed presentation of his case two weeks ago, but has remained in the spotlight with lengthy and pointed cross-examinations of defense witnesses.

One witness, Albion Fenderson, senior vice-president of the FBI of Chicago, was kept on the stand for nine days as Carr attempted to prove that the Justice Department memo had been on Fenderson's mind when Fenderson approved the action of Piasa reducing the borrowing limit to any one borrower to one percent of the association's total assets.

Fenderson staunchly defended his statement that the memo had not been on his mind when he accepted the action of Piasa's board of directors to set that limit.

The next defense witness called was Edward A. Eckert, senior supervisory agent of FBI, who contended that a $300,000 loan for which Madison Mayor Mike Sasyk applied was denied by the FBI because it would not have been a legal loan under the state's lending guidelines.

Sasyk offered to take out a loan on 30 acres of land he owned in the Arlington Heights subdivision, it was related.

Eckert said that Fenderson, who was his superior, ruled the loan would be "inappropriate because it was being taken on 'raw land,' not farmland, and not for developing of the property. 'I am accepting the judgment of my superior who found this was an illegal loan,' Eckert testified.

Carr contended the Sasyk loan was denied only because Sasyk intended to give the money to Green, and that the FBI was attempting to prevent Green from obtaining additional loan funds.

Carr also brought out that the loan would have been legal since it was clearly for farm land and the loan application carried the description "380 acres in cultivation."

The next witness was John S. Hackman of Belleville, senior vice-president of Illinois Federal Savings & Loan, which merged with and absorbed Piasa.

Hackman said he is an appraiser and felt the appraisal of Sasyk's 380 acres at $2,000 per acre in 1969 was too high. "It wouldn't have been worth anywhere near that figure for agricultural purposes," he testified.

However, Carr caught the witness in an error when Hackman testified the loan application was for use for farming. Carr was quick to point out the words "in cultivation" in the loan application. The witness denied an accusation that he had studied all of Green's loans at the request of attorneys for the Telegraph with the express purpose of showing that Green owed so much to Piasa he had no borrowing power.

Carr demanded that Hackman limit his answers to things of which he had knowledge in 1969. Since Hackman was not affiliated with Piasa in 1969, he admitted very little knowledge of the loan or the property at that time.

Carr attempted to show that since Hackman knew little about the Sasyk property in 1969, he could not give an accurate evaluation of the land's value then. Hackman insisted that his qualifications and knowledge today are adequate for him to form an opinion that the land was not worth $2,000 an acre in 1969.

Hackman testified that he had examined all of the loan files Piasa had on Green and that they totaled $6,322,334 for which Green was liable.

He was caught in an error by Carr when he said there were no titles or loans transferred from Green to other loans in the seven boxes of files he studied.

Carr walked to the seven boxes, grasped one of the loan files and opened it. He showed the jury a mortgage document, transferring the mortgage and title of one property to Robert Swiatek.

Carr contended that $2,847,667 of the liabilities in the seven boxes were needed to others, leaving only about $3.4 million outstanding in Green's name. The $3.4 million is below the $4.04 million Piasa could legally have loaned to one borrower, Carr noted.

While Eckert was on the stand, Carr cited a state regulation which he contended removed properties needed to other responsible parties from the tally of liabilities. The tally is used to consider whether any one borrower is exceeding the amount he may borrow from a savings and loan association.

Even though Green could have become responsible again for the loans if the buyers had defaulted, the regulation demanded that liability on mortgages needed to others be removed from the borrower's total liability, for purposes of determining whether he is approaching his legal lending limit, Carr said.

Eckert said he felt the association needs a release of liability to remove the mortgage amount from the total for any one borrower. When Carr demanded that he show where the regulation calls for a release, Eckert admitted there was no such stipulation in the regulation.

The defense called no more witnesses and on Friday morning Carr recalled Robert Degrand to the stand. Degrand was vice-president of Piasa and is now a controller for Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville.

Carr led Degrand through a basic recap of his original testimony, adding questions brought about by the testimony of other witnesses during the lengthy trial.

Degrad said Piasa had a good reputation and its lending policies were never questioned by the FBI until the allegations about Green arose.

He testified that Piasa's decision to limit lending to any one borrower at one percent of the association's assets was done to try and appease FBI, even though the cessation of large loans in 1969 had a detrimental effect on the building industry and its suppliers in this area; the industry has never fully recovered, he added.

Meanwhile, St. Louis County construction was flourishing and that county was growing and prospering, Degrand testified.

Suddenly, Piasa's delinquent mortgages went from $47,000 to $5,387,625, primarily due to the FBI stepping in to help Piasa stabilize its operations, Degrand told the jury. Most of the delinquencies were due to Green's empire collapsing, he testified.

By August 1969, all or most of Green's properties were delinquent, Degrand said.

Carr asked the witness if he felt FBI orders to reduce loans to "a few speculative borrowers getting an increasing amount of loans" was targeting Green, since he was the only "speculative borrower" the association considered.

Degrad explained that a speculative borrower is one who borrows money to build property and then sells that property as soon as it is finished.

He said that in his talks with Fenderson and Eckert, neither of the FBI officials ever said they were concerned Green was approaching the limit of the amount he could borrow from Piasa. He also said that Green was the only borrower affected when the one percent lending limit was imposed at the suggestion of the FBI.

He also testified that the only loan denied after the limit was imposed, other than to Green, was the $300,000 requested by Sasyk to give to Green.

Degrad said he personally went to Chicago to discuss the Sasyk loan request with Fenderson and Eckert. Carr asked him how he would feel about taking such a loan request to them if the loan was not a legal one, and Degrand said he felt such an action would be "insane."

Degrad said when he showed the application to Fenderson, Fenderson said it should be denied. Fenderson indicated there was "something in Mr. Green's background that concerned him," Degrand told jurors.

Degrad said neither Eckert nor Fenderson said anything about the loan being illegal, being under-assessed or having improper paperwork. They even visited the property with Degrand before denying the loan to Sasyk, he testified.

Man cut repeatedly with broken bottle

John Owens, Edwardsville, suffered numerous cuts when three men attacked him with broken beer bottles in the parking lot of Ken's Lounge, 1537 Twentieth St., at 1:30 a.m. today.

Owens told police he had just left the tavern and was walking to his car in the rear parking lot when he saw three young men in a car parked next to his.

The victim said he told the three to "take it easy going home," and the three got out of the car and attacked him.

A neighbor yelled at the men to stop and they got back in their car, but one of the attackers got out of the car again, struck Owens several more times, and then got back in the car, which left north on Washington Avenue.

Owens was taken to St. Elizabeth Medical Center where he was admitted for surgery. He suffered one cut to his head and about 10 to 12 cuts to his side and abdomen.

Police questioned tavern patrons and employees and neighbors who witnessed the incident, but no arrests have been made, pending further investigation.

Senator Sam M. Vandalbene, D-Edwardsville, has received an award, Honificia Mexicana Comision, making him an honorary Mexican-American.

"Senator Sam has always stayed to close to all the people of his district," Cecil Macias said, "and he has been an especially true friend of our community."

Macias said, "and he has been a public official we can always count on."

Convict Venice man in 'chop shop' case

Asa Minor Jr., 49, Venice, was convicted by a jury in Belleville Thursday of four counts of theft. He is to be sentenced in about 30 days.

Each count carried a sentence of from two to five years in prison.

It was alleged that investigators for the Illinois secretary of state found 18 dismantled autos in a garage in Alorton during a raid Jan. 30. They alleged the garage was a "chop shop" in which late model cars were dismantled and sold in parts.

Minor insisted on retaining his own attorney during the two-day trial, which ended Thursday. He wore the orange jumpsuit issued prisoners by the St. Clair County Jail during the trial, which was conducted before Circuit Judge Stephen M. Kerran, and prosecuted by Assistant St. Clair County State's Attorney Rick Surgeon.

Evidence showed that Minor leased the Alorton garage from Willie Staples, who said he did not know what was going on in the garage. However, he testified, Minor failed to pay the rent on the garage.

Minor contended he subleased the building to someone else and was unaware the cars in it were stolen, but he had no proof of the sublease.

Another witness, a bail bondsman, said Minor borrowed $500 from him for an automobile business. Minor contended that if he was selling expensive car parts, he would not have had to borrow money and he would have been able to pay the rent on the garage.

Rollin Henn

then greeted Henn included the honoree's scoutmaster, 92-year-old Rev. Paul Finn, formerly pastor of the First Baptist Church of Madison.

Next were Gene H. Stewer, formerly one of Henn's Sea Scouts who is now a national committee chairman of the Boy Scouts of America; Henry D. Karandjoff, who praised Henn for his role in creating the scout camp and in perpetuating Cahokia Mound as an autonomous scout council; and Don Freeman, another of Henn's scouts who went on to basketball fame at Madison High School, the University of Illinois and the National Basketball Association.

Further mystery guests were Bud Charbonnier, who described the enjoyment of scouts' visit to the Wisconsin regional canoe base with Henn, Council Scout Executive William Monical, who recalled discussions with Henn at scouting conferences prior to Monical's assignment here; Chet Sims of Cahokia, who read a poem, "Sharing My Friend with You," and praised Henn for devoting much of his life to voluntary scouting service; and Ralph Korte, council president, who noted Henn's varied assistance to scouting.

Cub Scouts presented flags and Toastmaster Guy Lahr noted parallels between Henn's activities and the history of the Cahokia Mound Council.

Raymond Gaudette read letters from friends unable to attend the program and Keith Sanders, past president, awarded Henn honorary membership in Explorer Post 104, Troy Troop 38's gift was a painting of Henn, created and presented by Scout Dennis Nemeth.

Henn had been lured to the church for a "reunion of old scouts," and a trophy from old scouts and other awards were presented to him by Air Force Colonel Hogan, a former scout, and Ted Scrum, chairman of the surprise program.

Monical led singing of "God Bless America" and Lahr read poems and presented a scrapbook containing a pictorial review of Henn's scouting career.

Henn headed the council in 1969-71 and held its other key office, commissioner, from 1954 to 1965 and for another period beginning in 1971.

He became a scout in 1924 and an assistant scoutmaster here in 1925 and from 1936 to 1945 was scoutmaster of Boy Scout Troop 11.

The native of Mount Vernon was awarded the scouting "Gold Arrow" in 1948 and the Silver Beaver in 1950 and is a vigil member of the Order of the Arrow, honor camping society.

Although receiving chemotherapy treatment at present, Henn hopes to be at Camp Sunnen this month for the 28th consecutive year.

Currently vice-president of membership relations of the council, Henn was praised by Monical as an "outstanding volunteer who has served in every capacity and has provided the cohesiveness this council has always needed. He has always stood firm in behalf of scouts."

Henn has commented that he likes "all phases of scouting, including the great outdoors, the good deeds and the character building."

Fully uniformed for the occasion Saturday evening, "Uncle Rollie" reacted warmly to the event and smilingly stood to greet scouts, scouts and friends before and after the speaking program.

His expression seemed to exemplify the words of another of the scouting songs distributed to the Boy Scouts at attendance:

"Boy Scouts one by one bow your head in prayer to the Lord up there. Oh, I thank you for this beautiful day, oh Lord."

"Thank You for the mountains, the trees in the land. Thank You for the sunshine that shines through the rain. Thank You for this beautiful day."

"As I camp on the trail tonight, I raise my eyes to the moonlit sky and I pray, Oh, hear my prayers tonight, Lord, I thank you for this beautiful day."

Arrest 34 on Chouteau Island

Thirty-four persons, including three Granite City residents, were arrested by Madison County sheriff's deputies Friday and Saturday nights on Chouteau Island as deputies maintained a "security check" to curb crimes on the island.

The arrests were made by deputy patrols stationed at the island end of the old Chain of Rocks bridge which is the only way to get onto the island area.

Officers stopped all cars crossing the bridge to enter the island, and made arrests when evidence was found that the drivers and passengers had no legitimate reason to be there.

Among those charged with illegal possession of liquor, deputies said, were Darrell Schrader, 24, of 2215 Grand Ave.; Scott LeMaster, 22, of 2724 Maryville Road; and Paul Benrath, 19, of 7098 Meadow Lane.

The three Granite Cityans were among 36 persons arrested Friday night. Of the 26, 18 were residents of the Florissant, Mo., area. The others were from Cahokia, Alton and other communities in Madison County.

Eight persons were arrested in a similar manner Saturday night. All were from Missouri communities.

Lt. Delbert Clemons of the sheriff's office, said the island long has been a gathering place for youth, but in recent years has been the site of rapes, stabbings and vandalism at least two murders.

Those arrested were released on bond during the weekend and are to appear at 1 p.m. today in circuit court at Edwardsville.

Pontoon snubs zoning board on Mehelic request

Despite the objections of some Jones Park residents, and against the recommendation of the Pontoon Beach Zoning Board of Appeals, the Pontoon Beach Village Board has voted to allow Nameki Township Highway Commissioner Frank Mehelic to place a mobile home on his lot in Jones Park, adjacent to Long Lake.

Neighbors have told the placement of the mobile home on the lot, because, they believe, Mehelic plans to rent it out. "Many people who rent trailers do not take care of them. That's part of our problem in Jones Park now," one man said.

Mehelic was unavailable for comment this morning. The zoning board held an onsite hearing on the objection and recommended that the permission be denied, although Mehelic already had filled and leveled the site for the mobile home.

The village board voted to overrule the zoning board and grant the request, with the stipulation that the home not be moved into Jones Park until the new sanitary sewers are operating.

It must be on a full pad, have skirting and the electrical system must pass a village inspection.

Youth sought in stabbing 2

Madison County sheriff's deputies are seeking an 18-year-old youth as a suspect in the stabbing early Saturday of an East Madison woman and her son.

The woman, Mrs. Laveta Wells, 48, of 1907 Fourth St., Madison, suffered a stab wound to the right side of her chest at 3:20 a.m. Saturday and was taken to the intensive care unit at St. Elizabeth Medical Center. She was moved out of ICU yesterday and reported in improving condition today.

Her son, Jeffrey, 16, also was admitted to the medical center for treatment of a stab wound to the left arm.

Authorities said the stabbing stemmed from an argument in the rear yard of the Wells home following a high school graduation party. This argument followed the family's return from the party, officers said.

According to information obtained by deputies, Jeffrey Wells and another boy became involved in the back yard argument which Mrs. Wells tried to stop.

Mrs. Wells got between the two boys in an effort to break up the dispute and at that point the other boy ran into the kitchen of the house, obtained a kitchen knife from a drawer and attacked Mrs. Wells and Jeffrey.

The other boy then fled, deputies said.

Eastern Orthodox program

The Rev. Father Thomas Suscaroth, rector of the Nativity of the Virgin Mary Orthodox Church in Madison, has announced that the parishes of St. Michael the Archangel (St. Louis), Sts. Cyril and Methody (Granite City), St. Thomas the Apostle (St. Louis), and his own church will co-host a program, "Sacraments in Orthodoxy," at St. Thomas the Apostle Orthodox Church, 6501 Nottingham Ave., St. Louis, at 7 tonight.

The Easter Orthodox program is being sponsored by the Theological Foundation of St. Vladimir's Orthodox Theological Seminary located in Yonkers, N.Y.

This is the second program this year that the foundation has sponsored for all metropolitan area Orthodox Christians.

The program consists of a film presentation, "Sacraments in Orthodoxy," THEOLOGICAL SPEAKERS Denise and John Jillions. They will address area Eastern Orthodox churches tonight.

which focuses on the worshipping community of the Orthodox Church, taking examples from parishes across the United States.

Following the film, there will be a discussion of the topic and further presentations of the topics, "Whose church is it, anyhow?" and "St. Vladimir's Seminary, its theological foundation in the life of the entire Orthodox Church."

These will be given by John and Denise Jillions. Rev. Thomas said that many Christians and non-Christians are searching for who and what is "true" and "right" in today's world, and particularly for the "truth" in worship and doctrine, when all about them seems in a state of confusion, decay and fluctuation.

He opposes subjugating fundamental truths for popularity among Christians, and of compromising morals and ethics of true doctrine for "a type of superficial ecumenism."

Stewart Co. seeks family histories

Area families with roots in Stewart County, Tenn., are being asked to submit family histories for compilation in a special publication, entitled "History Book on Stewart County."

Sponsored by the Stewart County Historical Society, located in Dover, Tenn., the book will consist of family histories, plus histories of the county, communities, townships, churches, schools, among other aspects.

Family histories must be submitted before June 15 to: Stewart County Historical Society, P. O. Box 334, Dover, Tenn. 37058.

The history may contain a maximum of 600 words, written legibly or typed, and should state from which county or state the family originally moved to Stewart County.

Two photographs, either current or historic, may be included and will be returned after publication.

Hestella Howard of Dover, chairman of the book project for the historical society, said no fee will be charged families wishing to have their history included.

However, those wishing to obtain a copy of the book are being asked to send a check for $27.50, prior to June 15, to the society's Dover address.

Mrs. Howard is a sister of Mrs. Virginia Parker, 2110 Ohio Ave., who may be contacted at 877-3135 for further details.

The book will feature information from 1803 to 1978 and contain between 300 and 500 pages, depending upon the number of biographies received and books ordered, Mrs. Howard said.

Socialist candidate in area

The country's economy is in a crisis with unemployment its major problem, Lee Artz, Socialist Workers Party candidate for U.S. Senator from Illinois, said during a visit to the Quad-City area last week.

Artz visited with workers at the gates of American Steel Foundries here Thursday, and planned other weekend stops at plant gates of area industries to talk with workers.

He said a drive to obtain more than 130,000 signatures to place the names of the Socialist Worker Party candidates on the November general election ballot will get under way within the next few weeks.

Artz is running on a ticket with Andrew Pulley, Gary, Ind., steelworker, as candidate for President, and Matilde Zimmerman of Wisconsin as candidate for vice-president.

While in the Quad-Cities, Artz said, "Illinois and Missouri workers should not be drafted for Carter's war on inflation any more than his military ventures overseas."

"Big business got us into this mess; let them pay for it," Artz asserted.

The candidate said he and other candidates of the Socialist Workers Party plan another campaign swing through this area before the November election.

State's top teams gearing for stretch drive

BLOOMINGTON — Normal in the upper bracket and Mt. Carmel in the lower bracket lead the final field of eight schools into the third annual Illinois High School Association (IHSAA) Class 1A Boys State Baseball Tour-namment Monday-Tuesday at Lanphier Park in Springfield. Normal, last year's small school tournament runner-up, brings a record of 13-14 into the opening quarterfinal game Monday at 9:30 a.m. against Effingham

St. Anthony (15-6). Mt. Carmel, last year's large school runner-up, brings a 21-5 record into a 2 p.m. battle with Peoria (Bergan) (23-13) in a game matching a pair of schools which dropped from Class AA to Class A status this school year because of declining enrollments. New Athens scored a 4-3 decision over Jim Scott's Normal Pioneer team last year at Lanphier Park for the Class A crown. A year earlier, New Athens lost the initial Class A title to New Lenox Providence.

Mt. Carmel's Golden Aces bowed 5-1 to Hillside (Proviso West) in the Class AA title game at Meinen Field, Peoria. Ace Reggie Fisher graduated, but pitcher Todd Painter and four others who played in the game return this year.

Ten Golden Aces played in the 1979 Class 2A title game, and in addition to Painter (who was the centerfielder in the contest) the returnees include catcher Greg Seaton, outfielder Russ Hargrave, first baseman John Norman and second baseman Rob

Dean. Of the 12 players who played in the Class 1A title game for Normal, five return this year. They are second baseman Steve Girardi, infielder Tom Adams, outfielder Marc Liberta, pitcher-infielder Doug Thomas and pitcher-infielder Tom Bartosik. In the other quarterfinal games, Alton Marquette takes a 28-5 record into its 11:30 a.m. game against Beardstown (19-11), while Genoa-Kingston (which belted New Lenox (Continued on Page 8))

McDonald's drops twinbill

By PETE HAYES
Sports Editor

GRANITE CITY — When Gary Hadius strolled to the plate here yesterday in the top of ninth inning and the score tied 2-2, it was the beginning of the end.

Hadius smacked a solo home run deep to leftfield and finally ended a doubleheader marathon between the Maryville Aces and McDonald's of Granite City. Maryville's 3-2 extra inning win in the second game came on the heels of a 2-1 nail-biter in the first game.

Hadius' homer was an inside-the-park job. But then, they all are on Granite City's Wilson Park Diamond Number one. There is no fence. The ball sailed over leftfielder Bob Ford and rolled. He caught up with it and fired to the relay man who in turn fired home. But it was, too late.

"I thought we'd win them both," said McDonald's manager Ray Harris. "We just couldn't get the hits when we needed them in that second game."

In the first game, McDonald's just about didn't get any hits at all. Maryville's Galt Murphy fired a one-hitter at the Granite City club.

The lone hit for McDonald's in game one led to its only run in the bottom of the second. Jeff Tretter singled to rightfield, catcher Dave weil walked and Mark DeGonia reached base on an error by the Maryville second baseman, Pat Hogan then walked, scoring Tretter.

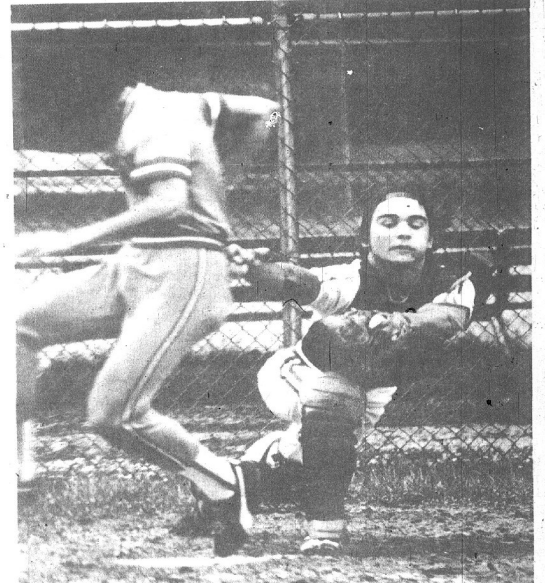

Maryville scored both of its runs in the fourth. Third baseman Buehler tripled. He scored when Murphy sacrificed him home with a fly ball. Davenport reached on an error by second baseman DeGonia and went to third when Schanck singled. He scored the eventual winning run when DeGonia fumbled a ground ball by Maryville's Coy. Maryville didn't exactly have a hot day at the plate either. The Aces managed just three hits off McDonald's starter Al Yount.

In the second game, both teams scored their first two runs in the first inning. It stayed that way for a long time. After Maryville had grabbed a 2-0 lead in the top of the inning, McDonald's came back. Starting leftfielder Mike DeGonia walked, second baseman Bob Stegemeier singled, as did Todd McFarland, leading to bases. Shortstop Jeff Parker singled in DeGonia and Stegemeier.

That was practically all the action until Hadius' heroics in the ninth. The loss drops McDonald's to 2-2 on the season.

YOU'RE IT! Catcher Dave Weil of Granite City's McDonald's Inter-City League Team lunges in an attempt to tag out a Maryville Runner at the plate yesterday in doubleheader action at Wilson Park.

Face Hearts, Arnold today ...

Kahoks whip Terriers 11-0

By RICK WELLE
for the Press-Record

BELLEVILLE — One game at a time.

Collinsville coach Russ Keene has been saying all through the tournaments that's the key to winning. First there was Centrala. Then O'Fallon. And now Carbondale.

The Kahok batting machine found little trouble operating Saturday afternoon in the first game of the Belleville West Class 2A Sectional. Collinsville pounded three Carbondale pitchers for 14 hits in an 11-0 six-inning rout.

One more victory hitched under the belt.

"We played three pretty good games in a row in the tournaments," Keene said. "I just hope we can keep it up."

"I told them we only get in trouble when we look one game ahead."

Collinsville can be considered anything but an underdog as it advances to the sectional championship game Monday with a 29-4 record against Effingham (16-4) at 4 p.m. The Kahoks' Jeff McDaniel (4-3) will face Effingham's Brian Westfall (4-2) on the mound.

Effingham advanced with a 5-2 victory over Belleville Althoff in Saturday's second game.

Collinsville ace right-hander Mark Campbell continued his string at 19 consecutive wins over the last two seasons. With Saturday's four-hit shutout, he's 12-0 this season and has an earned run average of less than 1.50.

The Kahoks answered any question they might possibly be looking ahead past the Terriers from the very start. Campbell pitched around a leadoff single by Brian Koster in the top of the first inning. In the bottom of the first, he started a rally with a one-out single.

Barry Wilson reached first base on a throwing error by Terrier third baseman Tyrone Rushing. With runners on first and third, Mike Hefflin hit a three-run homer over the centerfield fence. It was his ninth homer of the year and his third RBI.

If Collinsville was ever caught looking ahead, it was in the second inning. That was the only inning the Kahoks didn't threaten, and only one of two they didn't score.

In the third, Collinsville picked up one run when leadoff hitter Todd Miller was hit by a pitch, Campbell bunt-singled and Wilson grounded out to the second baseman, driving Miller home.

The Kahoks loaded the bases in the fourth on two walks and a single with one out. But Carbondale reliever Wes Dillard got his team out of the inning when he forced Campbell into 1-2-3 double play.

Hefflin singled in the fifth and took second on a wild pitch. Keith Throm singled with tag out to send Hefflin home and give Collinsville a 5-0 lead.

As if the five-run cushion wasn't enough, the Kahoks decided to not take any more chances of a Terrier comeback. Collinsville posted six more runs in the bottom of the sixth.

Throm finally put the Terriers out of their misery with a two-run homer to leftfield. The game was called because of the 10-run rule.

"I think we'll go all the way," Throm said. "But we've got to win Monday's game first. One at a time..."

Carbondale coach Larry Jackson was still looking toward centerfield after his

Edwardsville downs Mattoon to advance

Special to the Press-Record

SPRINGFIELD —

Edwardsville, behind the two-hit pitching of senior Vince Broderick, defeated Mattoon here Saturday 4-0 in the semifinals of the Springfield Class 2A Sectional baseball tournament.

The Tigers (24-8) were to face Normal Community High Monday at 4 p.m. for the sectional championship and the right to advance to the "Elite Eight" State Finals at Springfield's Lanphier Park, to be held Thursday and Friday.

Normal beat Springfield

Senior 11-4 in its semifinal game. Ironically, Normal was the team that Granite City North defeated in the championship of last year's Springfield Sectional. Edwardsville ousted North from post-season play last week in the championship of the Granite City South Regional.

Saturday, Broderick was in control from the start. He raised his record to 7-2, struck out six and walked none. He retired the first 14 Mattoon Green Wave batters he faced before giving up a bloop hit in the fifth. Mattoon's only other baserunner came on a pop fly single in the sixth. He threw only 65 pitches.

Leftfielder Greg Steiner drove in a run in the third inning for Edwardsville while Bob McManus was 2-for-3 with one RBI.

"This is great," said Edwardsville coach Bill Funkhouser. "These kids are just doing a super job."

"Our pitching has been the story" since the regional started," Funkhouser said. "Vince was in control today."

A real DRAG at the STRIP

GRANITE CITY — The annual Gateway Nationals were held here Friday, Saturday and Sunday at St. Louis International Raceway. And it was quite an event!

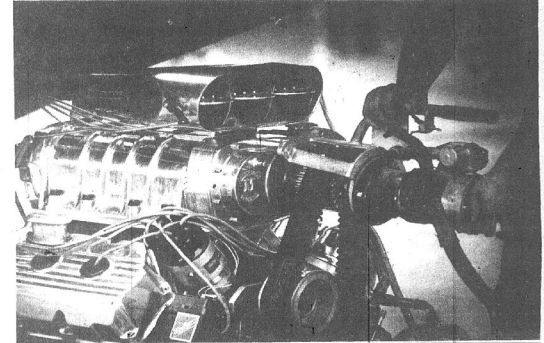

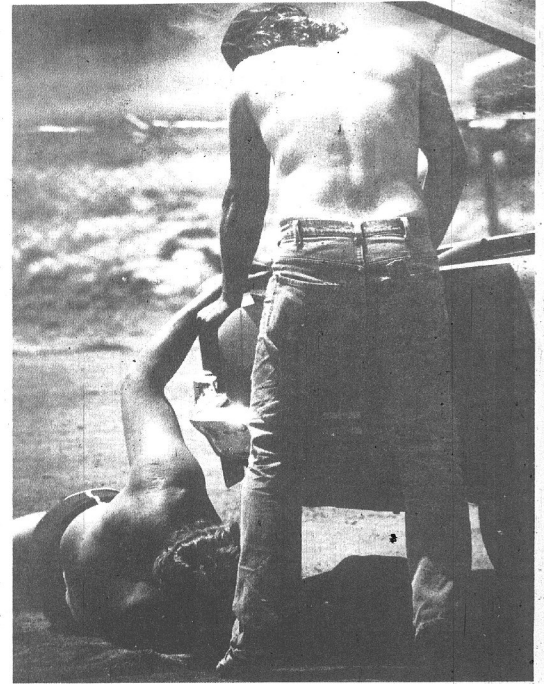

All the big named in the sport of drag racing were there. Tom McEwen, Don Garlits, Shirley Muldowney.

And the action was fast, hot and furious.

Press-Record award winning photographer Ed Sedej made a trip down to the strip and captured much of the feeling and action that goes into the making of a classic event like the Gateway Nationals.

'Big Daddy' wins top prize at Nationals

GRANITE CITY — "Big Daddy" Don Garlits came away with the top prize here Sunday at the running of the Top Fuel Division dragsters in the Gateway Nationals at St. Louis International Raceway.

Garlits, one of the legends of drag racing, easily defeated Jody Smart of San Antonio, Texas in the finals.

It was a classic case of the younger, Smart, in only his second season on the pro tour had a faster time than Garlits in the semifinals, but going up against the veteran, he couldn't hang on in the final race.

Tom Hoover of Minneapolis, was the winner of the Funny Car class, defeating Larry Fullerton in the finals.

In the Pro Comp. Dragster class, Bob McKosh was the winner. He defeated Hal Canode of Marion, Indiana in the final race.

The Pro Comp. Funny Car Division was won by Jack Wyatt of Millerton, Iowa. He defeated Merrill Frost of DeMoines in the final dual duel.

Shelby Jester of Lawton, Oklahoma was the winner of the Pro Stock Division. He defeated Jerry Haas of St. Louis in the finals.

In the Super Stock Class, the winner was George Morris.

George Montgomery won the Stock Division, Pat Fitzgerald the Elapsed Time Stock Division, Jay Potter the Super Street Class and Roy Kempe the Modified Street Class.

State Senate hears Dr. York

Dr. Thurnace York, pastor of Granite City's Tri-City Park Tabernacle on Maryville Road, was asked by Senator Philip J. Rock, president of the Illinois Senate, to open the Senate session last week in the Senate Chambers of the Capitol Building in Springfield.

Dr. York, a nationally known speaker, said, "It was a delightful experience to have members of the Senate come forward and express freely their appreciation for the prayer and that it touched their hearts."

The minister shared the experience with his congregation and said he and Mrs. Ethelyn York, his wife, were guided through the historic capitol building and entertained by Senator Sam Vadabene of Edwardsville and members of the senator's staff.

Dr. York spoke positively and was encouraged with the fiber of many he met who represent "our midwestern political family." He saw them, he said, as men of strength and interested in finding the best answers for the country, state and nation.

He said, "I saw the American system at work. Each of the leaders have a grave responsibility to the people of this state in times like these, to hold the basis for strong homes, good business and improved personal opportunities to achievement."

Dr. York's prayer was electronically transmitted to various offices in the Capitol Building and is now recorded in the files of the state. He has been asked to return to the Capitol for other sessions this year.

Later in the summer, Dr. York and Tri-City Park Tabernacle will host a community "All American Day," in which city, county, state and national political representatives from both major parties will take part. Participants will hear the Air Force Band in concert, and end the day with the "All-American" favorites — apple pie, ice cream and a display of fireworks, it was announced.

Solar buildings at Scott, E. St. Louis

More than 800 federal government buildings will be relying on the sun to provide at least part of their energy needs by the end of next year.

Under its solar federal buildings program, the Department of Energy will award about $31 million to 16 different agencies. These funds will be used for the design, construction and installation of solar systems in 843 buildings located in all 50 states and the District of Columbia.

Four projects will be funded in Illinois, totaling $223,000. This includes projects at the Department of Energy's Argonne National Laboratory and Fermi National Accelerator Laboratory near Chicago; Scott Air Force Base, Belleville; and a federal building in East St. Louis.

Installation of small systems will begin immediately. Construction of larger systems will begin after the final design is reviewed and approved.

It is expected that design and construction of all the projects will be completed in six to 18 months. Construction contracts will be awarded by the individual agencies.

The projects selected range in size from small residential solar hot water heaters to large industrial process heat systems, and include both active and passive systems.

The solar federal buildings program is authorized by Title V, Part 2, of the National Energy Conservation and Policy Act.

The intent of the program is to stimulate the solar industry by encouraging federal agencies to design, purchase and install commercially-available solar systems in new and existing federal buildings, and to commit the federal government to begin to use solar equipment in all possible applications.

The 843 projects were selected from over 900 submitted to DOE for evaluation last fall.

The lock on a door was pried open and several drawers were ransacked. Known missing are $8 in change, a pillow case, a class ring and a wedding band.

Refinishing of statuary undertaken

By PAT FOLEY
of the Press-Record

Several weeks ago two young men climbed atop the dome of St. Mary's Roman Catholic Church in Madison and began the arduous task of refinishing the statuary representing the scene of the crucifixion of Christ.

The large cross and corpus, the statue of the Virgin Mary and St. John the Apostle, had been placed on the dome in the early 1950s when the church was erected.

Hand-carved from laminated redwood, the figures appear to be diminutive in size when viewed from ground level, but are actually bigger than life size.

The cross is about 15 feet in height and the body of Christ measures seven feet. The two accompanying figures are six feet tall each.

Part of the deceptive appearance is caused by the height of the dome, which is approximately 55 feet, making the top of the cross 70 feet above the ground.

To begin the refinishing job, scaffolding was erected around the statues by Mark and Kevin Autenrieb, sons of Fred Autenrieb, owner and operator of the Autenrieb Art Studios in Edwardsville.

This was not the first job the family business had done at the church. About eight years ago some work was done to the interior by the Autenribs.

The family specializes in church decorating and refinishing and has worked on other churches in the Quad-City area.

To begin the task, the corpus was taken down from the cross and transported to the studios in Edwardsville for special attention (see photos at bottom). The two statues on either side of the cross could not be taken down from the roof so were worked on in place.

As the two younger Autenribs worked on top of the church (top left photo), their father worked on the corpus and another statue, of St. Francis, the patron saint of the Franciscan Order of priests, which is displayed above the entrance way of the rectory.

The church is administrated by priests of the Franciscan Order.

The work was begun by scraping, filing and sanding the statues and cross down to bare wood (top center photo, Kevin Autenrieb shown). Several layers of finishes were found to have been put onto the statues in earlier refinishing attempts.

Redwood stains, gold spray paint—which had turned green—and polyurethane layers had been applied to the statuary, none of which stood up to the weather and sunlight.

Fred Autenrieb had an even more difficult task of refinishing the corpus. Not only were the layers of previous refinishing attempts to be taken off, but several fingers and toes were found to be missing and had to be replaced.

He painstakingly hand carved four fingers for one hand and two for the other. In addition, the large toe on the right foot had to be replaced.

The removable arms of the corpus were taken off, making the task slightly easier. Autenrieb also rebuilt the muscles where the arm and torso met; these had been worn and chipped away with age and carelessness.

Meanwhile, atop the dome, the younger Autenribs were busy putting a coat of primer paint on the cross and statues.

Weather was their only obstacle in preparing the cross, to which a woodgrain pattern was added for realism, for the replacing of the corpus. Several days of work were lost due to impending weather and rain.

Acrylic paints of various wood tones and other colors were used to refinish the statues. All having a polymer resin base, titanium was added for use in the primer coats for the cross and statues and finely powdered marble was used in the paint for the final coats of the darker tones.

The statue of St. Francis was also finished using the marble-laden acrylics.

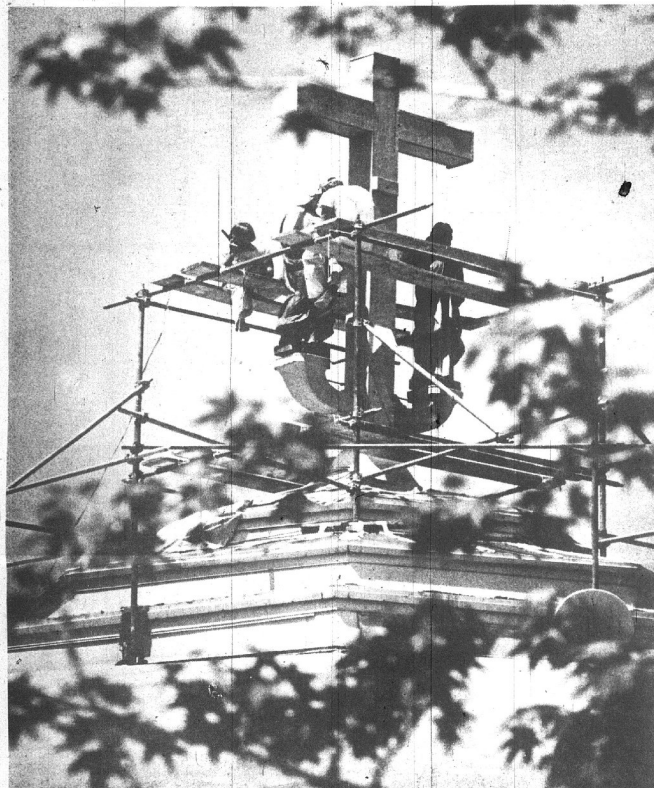

The biggest problem for the Autenribs in refinishing the statuary was the fact that no repairs had been done prior to the earlier layers of finishes being applied. The areas where the fingers and toes had been broken off had the same layers of finish as did the rest of the statues, indicating that the appendages were off the corpus for quite some time.

Almost three weeks and more than 200 manhours after they had begun the job, the figure of Christ was placed back on the cross (top right photo, being carried by Mark Autenrieb up the slope of the dome).

The flanking statues were then reinforced and the final touches were made.

With this accomplished, the intricate and somewhat hazardous refurbishing work was complete.

Seven-foot corpus—a big task in itself

The corpus, or figure of Christ, posed several special problems for Fred Autenrieb. Fingers and toes needed to be replaced in addition to the stripping of old layers of finishes from the laminated redwood.

Autenrieb had transported the corpus back to his studios in Edwardsville where time and care could be taken to restore it properly.

The missing fingers and toes were hand carved by Autenrieb and attached to the hands and feet after the stripping process was completed.

Above and to the left, acrylic primer paint is applied to the head and feet, respectively. At right is the seven-foot figure as it lay on the work table.

At far right, Autenrieb works with the fitting of the left arm. The muscles where the arms and torso meet had been worn and chipped away, and were carved and replaced during the restoration.

Immaculate Conception Church in Mattoon, Ill., was the setting for the April 26 nuptials of Miss Carol Denise Canavit and David Joseph Hordesky.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Davis Canavit of Neoga, Mr. and Mrs. John Hordesky, 2017 Wayne Ave., are the parents of the groom.

Bouquets of spring flowers in pastel colors graced the altar of the church as the Rev. Herman Niebrugge performed the double ring ceremony.

Selected music was sung by Rex Neff, who was accompanied by Mrs. Ned VanVorhis.

The bride wore a traditional white floor-length gown styled with a V-neckline trimmed with alencon lace and seed pearls. Motifs of Venice and alencon lace adorned the bishop sleeves and the skirt of sheer silesta flowed into a full chapel length train.

She also wore a cathedral-length veil edged with Venice lace. She held a cascade bouquet of white carnations, stephanotis and natural ferns.

Mrs. Linda Downs, a sister of the bride, was matron of honor. Bridesmaids were Mrs. Karen Patterson, a sister of the bride, and Mrs. Becky Cudato.

They wore identically styled seafoam gowns with flutter sleeves and pleated skirts. Each carried a nosegay of pastel spring flowers matching the dresses.

The groom chose his brother, Daniel Hordesky, to serve as best man. Groomsmen were R. Scott Stevens and John Malone, a brother-in-law of the groom. Ushers were Timothy O'Rourke and Richard Duval.

The groom's parents hosted a rehearsal dinner at The Villa Nova Restaurant in Mattoon. The reception was held at the American Legion Hall in Mattoon.

Rev. Pierson receives grant

A scholarship grant to the Pastoral Care and Counseling Institute, located on the campus of Stephen's College, Columbia, Mo., has been awarded to the Rev. Don F. Pierson, pastor of the Nameoki United Presbyterian Church.

"Advanced professional training is one of the commitments included in my program of continuing education for a more effective ministry," the local pastor said, commenting on one reason for taking the concentrated week-long course.

The training sessions start today and continue through Friday.

"An increase in the incidence of personal and family problems being experienced today, coupled with an equally increasing desperation shown by people needing someone to turn to," were cited by Rev. Pierson as justification for taking a week off from the routine of his pastorate.

"One of the great needs of the Christian today is to discover a satisfying lifestyle in a commitment to Christ and His people, and a growing grasp of God's Word and the appropriation of the Spirit as the present reality of God," the minister stated.

Rev. Pierson's church is located at 1700 Pontoon Road.

Removal of old county jail could provide parking room

Because access to Madison County governmental buildings has been limited by lack of parking space for a number of years, a persuasive case can be made for razing the 1895 village county jail and creating parking facilities in its place.

The Edwardsville Historic Preservation Commission and Illinois Department of Conservation have proposed to the U.S. Department of the Interior that it instead be placed on the National Register of Historic Places.

But few deny that it is an unlovely as well as ancient structure. And its 111 years of tears, bitterness and imprisonment hardly are the kinds of memories that Madison County wants to keep. While all acknowledge that the jail was necessary prior to the construction of the 1980 county jail, it is hard to get very sentimental about a place of incarceration.

The oldest remaining county jail in Illinois, the building undoubtedly would be costly to Madison County taxpayers to renovate and maintain.

Its location near the County Courthouse and in the heart of the Edwardsville central business district surely could be put to better use with its removal.

Many citizens agree with the latest Grand Jury's finding, filed last week, that Madison County ought to get on with the task of having the old jail demolished, once the prisoners have been transferred. The sheriff's staff already has moved into its offices at the new building.

Youths damage tire, escape two pursuers

A young boy and girl who were seen puncturing a tire on an auto on the Triangle Auto Sales lot at 1401 Niedringhaus Ave., about 1:10 a.m. Saturday, fled on foot and escaped two men who had been watching the lot because of repeated vandalism there.

James Gibson and Gary Bazzell who said they had been watching the sales lot saw the youths enter the lot and damage the tire. They told police they confronted the youngsters and when they did the boy said to the girl, "give me the gun."

They reported the girl put her hand in a purse, but did not draw a weapon. Instead, both started running and managed to escape the men, by running up the stairs to an apartment area, and then ran down an alley.

Police picked up a suspect but released him after questioning. The boy was described as five feet, nine inches tall, wearing dark pants and a blue and white shirt. The girl had red hair pinned up in back and was wearing a green blouse.

TEXTBOOK DEADLINE
Students attending classes at SIUE during the spring quarter have until June 7 a.m. to return their books to Textbook Services.

The extended hour schedule for book returns is: June 2, 3, 4 and 5 from 8 a.m. until 8 p.m.; June 6 and 8 a.m. until 5 p.m. Students failing to return their books on time will be charged a penalty fee.

Due to the extreme weight, the truck moved at a leisurely walking pace. The 2.5 mile route took more than 2 hours to cover. The box arrived at its destination shortly after 4:30 p.m. Thursday.

Granite City police assisted in controlling the rush-hour traffic as the huge load passed through the downtown business district.

The box was quite a traffic- and pedestrian-anger, especially when it crossed Madison Avenue. It blocked all six lanes, with several feet at each end to spare.

The cold boxes will expand the local facility to a total of 1,100 tons per day of gaseous oxygen to Granite City Steel and 400 tons of liquid products to merchant customers when the new equipment comes on-stream in early 1981.

Consumers sought for health assembly

"If you are concerned about the high cost, quality and availability of medical care, you can do something about it. The Greater St. Louis Health Systems Agency has kicked off a campaign to recruit additional consumers to serve on its General Assembly," Judi Roman, public affairs coordinator, said Friday.

The HSA is one of a national network of similar agencies, established by the National Health Planning and Resources Development Act, whose purpose is to bring about an organized effort to solve the problems of rising health costs and lack of services for some people.

Hospital expansion projects and federal health grants are reviewed by HSA volunteers for approval or disapproval.

The HSA General Assembly meets quarterly to discuss, debate, review and comment on national, state and local health issues. It is also the major source of appointments and elections to the HSA Board of Directors and all agency committees.

Membership of the General Assembly and all HSA committees is required by law to consist of a majority of health care consumers who represent the social, economic and racial makeup of the area. The remaining members are providers of health care and elected officials.

Those who are 18 years or older, live in St. Louis City, St. Louis County, St. Charles County, Jefferson County, Franklin County, St. Clair County, Clinton County, Madison County or Monroe County are eligible to become a General Assembly member.

"If you believe that local communities, health consumers and providers, not the federal government, have the responsibility for identifying local health needs—and for the approval and distribution of resources to meet those needs, the Greater St. Louis HSA urges you to get involved by joining the General Assembly. Our phone number is 314-241-5810, extension 600," the spokesman said.

Attorney for students

It was only Barbara Joiner's first day on the job, but already she was getting plenty of business.

"People have been coming in all day with questions and problems," she said. "If this is going to be the usual sort of workload, I can look forward to an exciting year." Mrs. Joiner, a native of Collinsville, was beginning her first week as students' attorney at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville. She will advise students on landlord-tenant problems, misadventures, contracts, family marriage and divorce questions.

Her position is funded through a student fee that was initiated last summer. She will not represent students in court, but will give them a list of attorneys who have agreed to offer their services at a low charge.

"I can take students through the legal bureaucracy and try to make the system less confusing," Mrs. Joiner said. "I can't represent them in court, though that part of my contract will be evaluated in one year."

She received a bachelor's degree in law enforcement administration from Western Illinois University before graduating from the School of Law at Washington University in 1978. She was formerly employed as an assistant state's attorney in Madison County.

Her office is in the Central Affirmative Action Office, 3208 Rendleman Building. Eventually, she will have a permanent office in the

BARBARA JOINER

University Center. She plans to institute some evening hours for the convenience of night students. Her telephone number is 692-3355.

Stars' P.R. Friend

Henry Rogers Promotes Himself

By DAN LEWIS

Henry Rogers once convinced Look Magazine (now defunct) to devote its cover and 10 inside pages to a fashion layout featuring the clothes of a young, unknown actress — Rita Hayworth — whom Rogers claimed spent her entire salary ($15,000 a year) on clothes.

To sell his client, Rogers showed the magazine's editor a telegram from the Fashion Couturiers Association of America honoring the actress as the best-dressed off-screen actress.

The starlet, under contract to a major studio, was hardly a household name and surely not sufficiently known to rate a Look cover. Moreover, there never really was such an organization as the Fashion Couturiers of America. It was the creation of Henry Rogers' imagination.

Yet no one found out — and soon no one cared; it made Hayworth a star and Henry Rogers an established publicist and partner of Rogers and Cowan, the 12th largest public relations firm in the United States. It is the No. 1 public relations company in the entertainment industry.

Henry is the man who once got the late Gary Cooper to teach Frank Sinatra how to play a cowboy for the singer's first Western flick.

Rogers and Cowan also dreamed up one of the more imaginative promotional stunts of our times. They concocted a party hosted by Jack Benny at a New York automat to mark the opening of his new television season. Famous in those days for its nickel machines that dispensed sandwiches and beverages, the automat complemented Benny's frugal style. As guests arrived in their chauffeured Cadillacs and Roll's Royces, Benny greeted them — in black tie — and handed out nickels.

Rogers also proved that he would go to any extreme to win a client, even learning transcendental meditation because it was a condition stipulated by a prospective client, the Beach Boys.

The definitive press agent, Rogers has humorous, informational and fascinating material spanning his years promoting TV and film personalities. He certainly has enough to fill a book — and he recently published his tales.

"Walking A Tightrope" by Henry Rogers (William Morrow and Company) is more than a compilation of anecdotes. It is a history of Hollywood for Rogers has been an integral part of it since he first arrived there with his parents from Irvington, N.J., in 1934 at the height of the Great Depression. With a $500 loan from his father, he launched a career that brought him and his company to the top of the business.

These days, enjoying a unique situation, he flacks for himself.

"I call all the media people that I have been dealing with over the years, and I tell them I've got one heck of a client for them to interview — me," Rogers says with a broad smile.

Obviously, he called this writer, and we recently met in New York for several hours. He talked about his book and his career and how he reshaped the image of his business from its flackery standing of the early days to a highly respected occupation today.

"Each week of my life, somebody has asked me what a P.R. guy does," Rogers observes. "So I put it into the book."

As he tours, does interviews, appears on talk shows, lectures, he finds that the average person today is still interested in the old movie stars.

"There still is tremendous interest in Rita Hayworth, Claudette Colbert, Lana Turner, Joan Crawford," he declares, adding that Miss Crawford was the most exciting actress he has met.

Were the horrible stories in "Mommie Dearest" true, as pronounced by Crawford's stepdaughter, Christina?

"I'm offended by the thought," Rogers responds, but then adds, "I witnessed one scene which indicates the story is not too badly exaggerated. My wife and I were invited to dinner at Joan's house, and she took us in to see her children. Young Christopher was in bed, his hands and legs spread out and tied to the bed. When my wife expressed dismay, Joan said she had to do it, otherwise the boy would kick off the covers. She thought she was right, and she also thought she was a good mother."

Rogers sees two major changes in his business: The media have become more sophisticated — especially the print medium — and consequently, the publicists are more sophisticated.

"I could not get away with a phony telegram today as I did with Rita Hayworth's fashion bit," Rogers declares. "Editors today would first check out the organization for authenticity."

"I like it better now," Rogers declares. "It is more challenging. It is easy to make up news. It is difficult to make news."

Rogers feels that the old tinsel of Hollywood has faded in recent years. With the exception of Barbra Streisand, today's stars lack the magnitude and charisma of Gable, Grant and Hayworth.

"Big stars are not recognizable faces today. Go back 25 years, and there were 50 stars who would turn heads in a restaurant, nowhere in the world. Today, perhaps Streisand or Bo Derek do in Hollywood."

One of the reasons is that television has become the dominant entertainment form in America, but television stars do not emerge as charismatic as movie stars, in Rogers' opinion.

"There remains the mystique about the movie star who is only seen on the screen once or twice a year," Rogers says. "The television star, in the home every week, doesn't achieve it. In television, the role creates the star — Hugh O'Brien never got over being Wyatt Erp or James Arness will never not be Matt Dillon ("Gunsmoke"). Carroll O'Connor has flopped in everything he has done since assuming the Archie Bunker role."
